

Greetings to everybody,

First of all I wanted to send my best and warmest greetings to you, the strong and responsible women in this meeting and to thank Mrs. Hansen for giving me this opportunity to send a message to this meeting.

My name is Safora Mohammadi. I am 30 years old and an activist for the Women's Committee of National Council of Resistance of Iran. I have studied law and use to live in Denmark from the age of 8 to 17 years. So I can also speak a little Danish too.

I am active for the women who are under suppression in Iran, women who have been executed, stoned or tortured for false reasons as well as for the resistant women in the Iranian regimes dungeons. I am also active especially for the thousand women, heroens of of the Iranian Resistance movement who are right now in a camp in Iraq and at risk of been massacred.

I wished that I could be with you today and see you in person especially that I have seen your determined and warm faces on your websites and wanted to thank every single one of you because of your activities and efforts for all the women in the world. I also would like to have the time to tell you about the great pain that the people of Iran and especially the women endure and be the voice of thousands of my sisters in Camp Liberty.

You might ask where is Camp Liberty and who are the thousand women that which I called heroes?

The reality is that one cannot explain in one page the history of this resistant and on the top of it about the women in this movement and their leadership because it these women are incredible, strong and brave. Therefore, I could explain more in detail when we meet in person. But what I wanted to tell you is about our urgent and huge campaign to save the life of these Iranian women who are now in Iraq. These are people who fled Iran because they were against the misogynist and fundamentalism dictator in Iran and were at risk of been executed. Right now they are in a camp called "Liberty" and were attacked twice by the Iranian regime which left 9 dead and many wounded. The last missile attack was February 9th which occurred when the residents were asleep. They were hidden by 40 missiles and one women, a mother for two was killed in the attack.

As a result of international inaction despite protest of thousands of members of parliaments and political personalities that continue every day (A glimpse of it is in the newsletter that I have attached). The people responsible for the rocket attack have aggressively and unmercifully confessed to another repeat and the Iraqi government in cooperation with the dictatorial regime in Iran has denied taking responsibility on this matter. However we strongly believe that with our 33 year experience in our fight for freedom, as a result of our efforts and solidarity and if we pay the price and sacrifice all we can, we can prevent another attack and save the thousand women. One of these women is my mother. These women are the fruit following years of sacrifice and struggle for freedom, equality and democracy. And are the hope for millions of Iranian especially women.

What's important and urgent is to provide their safety and security. For succeeding this project we have 2 campaigns.

The first campaign is for a conference on the 9th of March, simultaneously with international women's day in Paris where hundreds of parliamentarians and human right and women rights activist and political figures from US, Canada, EU and Arab countries have promised to join. In order to reinforce this voice we need the participation of a strong delegation of women from Denmark. Political figures such as Betancourt, Aude de Taune, Tasha, and Rita Sussmuth will participate and speak in this conference. A delegation from parliaments of Palestine, Egypt, Jordan, Tunisian, Morocco and many other Arab countries will also participate. The women's association in Denmark will help the organizing committee to organize the trip and hotel reservation for our guests. We have considered for every one of you to make a short speech for the Iranian women on the panel and to tell them that they are not alone and that you are behind them in their desire for freedom. This film will be shown on satellite television broadcasted inside Iran and the Iranian women need your every single support.

I must apologize that I have delayed to inform you on the gathering on March 9th and I know that your agenda is full but every one of you will play an very important and effective role in the gathering. That's why I have asked you to participate because with your presence in the meeting, we can prevent another massacre and tomorrow might be too late...

The other campaign which follows this campaign is to sign the petition which I have sent to you per email and I want you to sign it and send it back to me.

I will like to talk to you about how to participate in these campaigns and to schedule it on the phone.

Thank you very much for giving me this time and listening to me.

I hope to see you all soon in Paris

Best Regards Safora
