Hello, I hope you are well. It has come to my attention that On November 7 of

2024 Keira, an Indigenous

Greenlandic Inuk woman in Denmark, gave birth to baby Zammi. Two hours after birth,

Danish authorities took baby Zammi away from Keira, which was a decision based on something called an FKU test, which is rooted in racism against indigenous communities that

Keira took 10 years earlier in 2014

just before the birth of her second child. The test concluded that Keira had a "lack of cognitive abilities and parenting skills" which then lead to Danish authorities kidnapping Zammi at the time. Yes, kidnapping. At has also come to my attention that she also lost custody of her 9 year old child and has to pay the foster parents for taking care of her own children. Which is something that I had come across on the internet. Please, help Keira gain custody of her children back. It is her right to have her children, the right of a mother to have and protect her children. What if that had been your child taken from you? When I saw that this was happening, it broke my heart in a million pieces. I simply just want to help Keira, I am but a witness. Keira is fighting on social media to her millions to help, and I am one of those millions that are willing to help. So please, do what you can to get her children back safely home. I had gathered all these informations from these accounts on Instagram: @anordicheart @paninng.uaq @indigenous_baddie @jenanmatari @tupaarnaq
